

MARATHON CONSULTING ANNOUNCES LAUNCH OF NEW WEBSITE.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Marathon leads the way with innovative, high quality IT service above the rest.

Brooklyn, New York January 28, 2010 -- Marathon Consulting, leader in IT solutions and consulting, launches its new website today. Marathon is a company that has heart. With its experienced, knowledgeable and efficient workers, they are prepared for urgent situations. The headlines on the homepage of the new website address two important dilemmas: 1) slow working computers and 2) the search for quality IT service that not only gets the job done but is cost efficient.

Customers of Marathon are impressed with the level of help and support they receive specifically with those who are not as technologically advanced as others. Marathon offers a variety of services that fit any company's need. Partnering with other organizations has enabled Marathon to perform at its peak. With the level of trust established with other organizations, Marathon has the ability to meet the highest quality needs of small and non-profit businesses. Marathon allows its customers to take pride in knowing they have the best quality IT service possible.

Marathon Consulting sets the bar with personalized but valid stories that companies can relate to. They are not an ordinary IT service provider. Marathon acknowledges that anything can go wrong and they learn from their mistakes, in which Marathon states in their Code of Ethics. Marathon also establishes patience with its customers in finding the best fit solution. Marathon does not use the ends to justify the means nor do they believe in "quick fixes" in order to finish the job. Marathon does not want to frustrate its customers nor become frustrated themselves. Marathon advocates the golden rule in treating its customers the way they want to be treated. However, Marathon Consulting goes one step further to "rectify the issues, and learn how not to repeat them."
